Re: RCCC CIP Project Ranking, May 2009

Dear Mr. Holmes,

The 2010 Capital Projects Needs List and its attendant rankings were formulated through a survey of our residents that included the problem, scope and status information for each of the listed projects.

Projects were ranked numerically. However, there were some that received either no or very few rankings of any sort (coded NR) or were marked for deletion (coded DEL) by a majority of the respondents.

There were two projects which have received funding felt by the respondents to be insufficient (coded NSF) to accomplish the project scope. The rankings may well have been higher for these two projects as a number of respondents did not rank them; possibly on the basis that they were funded and therefore "off the table".

There were not enough responses in the Anchorage Parks & Recreation or Fire Department categories to be significant. Anecdotally, Storck Park failed a recent report card issued by the MUNI. A fire station location to serve Potter Valley seems favored while bond issues for improvements & repairs would likewise be favored.

Overall, the responses and rankings within the RCCC this year are very similar to those made last year.

Sincerely,

Mike Kenny
