Mayor Bronson and Anchorage Assembly Leadership Remind Residents to Vote in the April 5, 2022, Municipal Election

Anchorage, AK – At last night’s Assembly meeting, Mayor Dave Bronson and Municipal Manager Amy Demboski joined Assembly Chair Suzanne LaFrance, Assembly Vice Chair Christopher Constant, and Deputy Municipal Clerk – Elections Jamie Heinz to recognize municipal election workers and remind voters how to participate in the upcoming April 5, 2022, election.

“Elections are normally about ideas, candidates, and winning votes. However, they wouldn’t be possible without election workers, who we honored last night,” said Mayor Dave Bronson. “Election workers normally operate out of the spotlight, but their role couldn’t be more important to the success of our democratic process. It takes a team to pull off our local elections and I want to thank our election workers for their contributions.

“I look forward to the changes and additions being implemented for the upcoming April election. I think these changes are a step in the right direction to make sure elections in Anchorage are fair and transparent for residents,” concluded Mayor Bronson.

“On behalf of the Assembly and the Election team, I want to thank Mayor Bronson and Municipal Manager Demboski for their assistance in keeping our local elections safe and secure,” said Assembly Chair LaFrance. “The Administration stepped up to help launch the 24-hour live stream of the Election Center and to develop an online observer training, which are both critical pieces to ensuring the security of our elections. The Assembly is grateful for all of the municipal staff who help make elections possible.”
