MUSIC TOURISM

Almost every national artist that visited Alaska for Sundown shared images of Anchorage, and Alaska to millions of followers. Artists have filmed music videos and shared countless photos, videos and experiences of Alaska that would have cost any marketing agency thousands of dollars. Music tourism and music festival tourism have the power to power our economy and drive business in other avenues not yet tapped.
Music Tourism
(Great for Anchorage as it is a driver to 'city activities')

Revenue Leaves Alaska
Ticketmaster / Live Nation etc. Outside Promoters

Some revenue to Alaska Airlines Center / UAA Concert Board (18-25)

What currently happens
SHOWDOWN All Ages Shows

Anchorage benefits from permit revenue
Local year-round and gig jobs
Quality use of local spaces and parks
Economic stimulus for bars and restaurants
Events that rival those in the lower 48

Youth engagement and retention in Anchorage - This is what we are all building towards!

How do we foster more of this?

Anchorage Municipality Funded music grants for:

- Grants for promoters to throw all ages events
- ‘Third space’ for youth in Anchorage to throw their own events with low/subsidized overhead.
- Practice rooms for youth bands to combat music funding being cut
- Activate the youth to throw their own events and participate in the music scene, keeping them in Alaska
- Build young concert goers that stay in Anchorage
- Stimulus to local music shops like Mammoth Music and Horn Doctor
HOW CAN YOU HELP?

- SHARE WITH YOUR CONSTITUENTS (MAILING LIST, SOCIAL MEDIA)
- WORK PROACTIVELY WITH US TO FIND SOLUTIONS FOR AREAS OF CONCERN IN MIDTOWN (ARCHIVES LOT ETC)
- HELP US IDENTIFY MORE PUBLIC-PRIVATE PARTNERSHIPS

Festivals are really successful when they are generated by a subcultural infrastructure of alt-weekly magazines and music venues, then winning support of [convention and visitors bureaus], chambers and city halls (i.e., Loussac, Egan Center etc). As well as businesses that may benefit from partnering or participating in our festival in your districts.
