Turnover accommodates residents who shop or visit downtown for commercial, recreational, governmental, other private purposes. Consistent, uniform, and fair enforcement of parking laws is critical to the success of a vibrant downtown commercial and business center. No more than ninety days after enactment of this ordinance, the mayor and the Anchorage Parking Authority shall prepare a written plan for improved enforcement of parking ordinances in the downtown area with the overall goal of improving turnover of parking spaces in that area consistent with existing parking regulations. The plan shall also address measurement and periodic reporting on parking turnover to affected agencies. To be reviewed first with the Downtown Community Council and the Anchorage Downtown Partnership, the plan shall be submitted to the Assembly for informational purposes.

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING ANCHORAGE MUNICIPAL CODE CHAPTERS 6.70, 9.28, 9.30, 11.10, 11.60, 11.70, 12.20, 14.60, 17.70, 19.20, 23.10, 23.10.TABLES 3A-3M, 24.30, 25.60 AND ANCHORAGE MUNICIPAL CODE OF REGULATIONS CHAPTERS 9.30, 15.05, 21.20, 21.60, 21.67 AND 25.10, TO ESTABLISH OR INCREASE FEES, FINES AND/OR PENALTIES IN AN EFFORT TO IMPROVE COST RECOVERY AND REDUCE OR ELIMINATE TAXPAYER SUBSIDY OF MUNICIPAL PROGRAMS IN THE DEPARTMENTS AND DIVISIONS OF DEVELOPMENT SERVICES, FINANCE, TREASURY, PROPERTY ASSESSMENT, HEALTH & HUMAN SERVICES, LAW, MERRILL FIELD, PLANNING, POLICE, PROJECT MANAGEMENT & ENGINEERING, PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION, TRANSPORTATION INSPECTION, ECONOMIC & COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT, PARKS & RECREATION, AND ANCHORAGE MUSEUM.

This memorandum supports AO 2003-152S, an ordinance amending multiple Anchorage Municipal Code and Anchorage Municipal Code of Regulations provisions to establish or increase fees, fines and/or penalties in an effort to improve cost recovery and reduce or eliminated taxpayer subsidy of municipal programs.

Each section in this memorandum, provided by the appropriate department representative, corresponds to the same numbered section in AO 2003-152S, submitted concurrently herewith, and seeks to adjust fees, fines and penalties to reflect actual costs to run the various department programs:

Section 1. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Section 06.70.030. The Municipality's miscellaneous accounts receivable billing module has never assessed a late payment penalty on delinquent accounts. As a result, an entity receiving services from the Municipality does not currently have any financial incentive to pay in a timely manner. This lack of financial incentive leads to a significant accumulation of delinquent accounts, many of which are written off as uncollectible (see, Internal Auditor's August 2003 report). By establishing a late payment penalty provision, revenue realization will increase and the aging of the miscellaneous accounts receivable will be more manageable.

[Submitted by Dan Moore, Treasurer.]

Section 2. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Section 09.28.026, to establish an administrative fee of $200.00 for processing paperwork to release a vehicle impounded for first offense of failure to provide proof of insurance under Anchorage Municipal Code 09.28.030. The release of a vehicle for first offense does not affect the pending criminal charges, and does not apply where the violator does not have insurance coverage in place. The administrative fee will be split 1/3 to the Dept. of Law and 2/3 to Anchorage Police Department.

[Submitted by Frederick H. Boness, Municipal Attorney; Barry Marcov, Anchorage Police Department.]

Section 3. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Section 09.30.155, the penalty for motor vehicles with current registration. AO 2001-145(S-1) (December 17, 2001) increased the fine for the same offense under Anchorage Municipal Code section 09.52.030, Vehicles to be licensed. This change reduces the amount of the fine by one-half, when there is valid proof of registration prior to the time of violation.

[Submitted by Barry Marcov, Anchorage Police Department.]

Section 4. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Section 09.30.230, the penalty for Parking a Vehicle with studded tires out of season. This change revises the language from "Two or More" to any studded tire, in order to match the language for a similar offense under Anchorage Municipal Code section 09.44.380C., Tire Equipment Restrictions (studded tires).

[Submitted by Barry Marcov, Anchorage Police Department.]

Section 5. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Section 09.30.280, to add the table for civil penalties, which is deleted from Anchorage Municipal Code of Regulations 09.30.001 in Section 17 below.

The fees are under 09.32.080, 09.32.090, and 09.30.335 have not been changed since 1994. This section also amends 9.30.230 to equalize the fines for the same offense under 09.44.380C. (AO 2001-145 S-1.) Penalties for violation of sections 9.30.155A. and B. are also amended to equalize the fines for the same offense under 09.52.030.

Finally, this section amends the penalty for all other violations under Chapters 09.30, 09.32 or 09.34 not otherwise addressed, which has not been changed since 1995.

[Submitted by Barry Marcov, Anchorage Police Department.]

Section 6. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Section 11.10.160A., which sets forth the fee structure pertaining to Regulated Vehicle Permits and Chauffeurs, originally adopted in 1984, per AO No. 84-18. Since 1984, however, there have been significant changes in the Anchorage regulated vehicle industry. No new general taxicab permits have been issued, and the market value of a general taxicab permit has increased three-fold, from approximately $35,000 in 1984 to approximately $120,000 in 2003. Furthermore, a survey of the records of 85 taxicab permits reveals a significant increase in the amounts paid by lessees to the owners of those permits, from an average of $600 per month for leases signed in 1990 to an average of $1, 186.96 per month for leases signed in 2002.

In 2003, the revenues received by Transportation Inspection are expected to fall short of the total department costs by approximately $50,000. The proposed increases are appropriate for fees which have remained constant for 19 years and recover Transportation Inspection department costs.

[Submitted by Brent G. Fraser, Transportation Inspector.]

Section 7. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Section 11.60.200C. to increase mandatory airport fees and charges for permanent aircraft parking, transient aircraft parking, vehicle parking and eliminate a fee for mobile aircraft shelter space. In addition this amendment provides support for an administrative rental rate increase, as part of the budget process, to the Merrill Field lease rate.

Increased expenses make it necessary to adjust rates and charges at Merrill Field Airport for the first time in over a decade. Increase of airport lease and property rental rates, along with aircraft parking and vehicle storage fees, are included in the Airport's 2004 proposed budget. These increases allow the municipal airport to continue to provide services at current levels and to remain self-supporting. The Municipal Airports Aviation Advisory Commission is in support of the rate increases and documented their approval by passing a resolution recommending approval of the Merrill Field Airport 2004 Proposed Operating and Capital Improvement Budgets.

The fee increase for aircraft parking and vehicle storage will result in an additional $50,000 in annual revenue. The lease rate will also be administratively increased by $0.01/SF/YR, as part of the annual budget process, resulting in another $50,000 in annual revenue.

The mobile aircraft shelter permit fee is no longer required. The existing mobile aircraft shelters were relocated and placed on permanent foundations in 1998. Each shelter owner now has a long-term lease with the Municipality of Anchorage, thus eliminating the need for a permit.

Section 8. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Section 11.70.060, increasing the fare for users of the fixed route, People Mover, and demand-responsive AnchorRIDES systems. This fare increase allows the People Mover and AnchorRIDES systems to recover an increased amount of the actual costs of providing transportation for passengers. The proposed higher fares will provide $225,000 annually in additional program income to help offset increases in operating costs.

The U. S. Department of Transportation limits the amount charged to disabled (ADA) clients to two times the current fixed route fare. The proposed fare for adults on the fixed route system is $1.35, and the increase in ADA and suggested senior fares to $2.50 will still be below maximum level allowed by federal ADA requirements.

Other increases include increasing the senior and ADA fares on the fixed route system from $0.25 to $0.35, the monthly adult passes from $36.00 to $40.00, the monthly youth passes from $18.00 to $20.00, class passes will remain $45.00, summer passes will increase from $40.00 to $45.00, spring and winter passes will increase from $14.00 to $18.00, and senior and ADA monthly passes from $10.00 to $12.00. Additionally, IRS Section 501 (c) 3 charitable organizations will be afforded the purchase of fares at 2 for 1 ratio for up to $1,000 in purchases per calendar year. Bus tokens will not be discounted from regular adult and youth cash fares. ADA clients outside of 3/4 miles from fixed route service will be assessed a $1.50 surcharge to base fare of $2.50, ADA guest fare will be the same as that for an ADA client. Additional guests will pay $15.00 per trip.

Section 9. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Section 12.20.020. ACVB historically receives half of the gross amount of all bed taxes owed to the Municipality, in order to promote tourism. But, the costs incurred by Treasury to ensure maximum realization of bed tax revenues has never been shared with ACVB. Treasury has a work group devoted to the audit, collection and enforcement of the bed tax, and this proposed change clarifies that half of the "net" bed tax collections, after enforcement and administration costs, shall be directed to the promotion of tourism. This change ensures that both revenues and costs are shared equally with respect to bed tax collections.

Section 10. This section of the ordinance amends the general municipal fine schedule set out at Anchorage Municipal Code Section 14.60.030. Specifically, this amendment revises fines for offenses under Chapters 24.25, and 24.30 through 24.90.

The fines for offenses under Anchorage Municipal Code Chapter 24.25 were last amended in 1987. The current fines do not cover the personnel and equipment costs to abate these violations, or to discourage initial or repeat violations that impact public safety.

In addition, fees and fines for offenses under Anchorage Municipal Code Chapters 24.30 through 24.90 are also insufficient to cover the personnel and equipment costs to abate these violations, to discourage initial or repeat violations that impact public safety, or recover repair costs for damage to public utilities.

Section 11. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Sections 17.70.010A. and 17.70.020A. In January 2003, significant amendments to Anchorage Municipal Code Title 17 (Animals) became effective. The amendments focused on regulating the care and control of animals within the municipality including but not limited to requirements for adoption, impound, euthanasia, licensing, immunization, quarantine, administration, and other matters. Amendments provided for new programs aimed at reducing the number of unwanted and unredeemed pets. Programs such as microchipping and spaying/neutering prior to adoption as well as enhancing enforcement of animal cruelty laws, were implemented. A 2003 first quarter funding revision request submitted to fund new programs promulgated by Title 17 changes was not fully approved. Thus, the animal care and control program will realize an annual shortfall of $152,700 for year 2003 and subsequent years. Services were cut in the areas of staffing, training, center hours, and others to manage the shortfall.

2003 amendments to Title 17 (Animals) changed few fees and fines. Some fees and fines were new due to program changes while other fees were eliminated or reduced. Most animal care and control fees and fines have not changed since 1997 or prior to that time. In addition, the cost of providing animal care and control services has increased over the years. Amended fees and fines are expected to accomplish the following: Promote responsible pet ownership, public safety, and animal welfare by increasing fines for violations; encourage users of the program to pay a higher percentage for the services they receive, thus reducing the burden on taxpayers; and decrease the number of unwanted pets and animal related problems in the municipality by promoting spaying and neutering of animals. Higher fees for unaltered animals in the areas of impoundment and licensing will promote spaying and neutering. Fees increased by this amendment include licenses, redemption, boarding, cremation, and fines.

The revised fees before the Assembly are a collective effort between the Department of Health and Human Services, Municipal Attorney's Office, Animal Control Advisory Board, and Animal Licensing and Placement Services.

Section 12. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Section 19.20.010E. The Downtown Business Improvement District (i.e., Anchorage Downtown Partnership) historically receives the gross amount of all business improvement district revenues. The departments of Finance, Information Technology and OMB all play roles at various times during the year to support the administration, billing and collection of business improvement district revenues. To-date, these municipal costs have not been “netted” against payments to the Anchorage Downtown Partnership. This proposed change requires municipal costs to be examined periodically and charged to the benefited district area. Allocating costs to the downtown business improvement district is consistent with the approach taken by other assessment districts.

Section 13. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Section 23.10.304.2. In January 2003, the multiplier for all Anchorage building permits was administratively set at 1.3. This amendment codifies that multiplier.

[Submitted by Ron Thompson, Director, Development Services.]

Section 14. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code 23.10 Tables 3A through 3M, and adds a new table for on-site fees (designated Table 3-M; renumbering Table 3-M to Table 3-N), moved from Anchorage Municipal Code of Regulations 15.01.001F. The fees in these tables are raised, generally by 15%, to cover increases in personnel and overhead costs. Fill/grading/excavation fees were raised by a factor of 3 to make them proportionate to the level of effort required to permit and inspect these projects.

Amendment to Chapter 23.10 Table 3-B includes Fire Department Plan Reviews, performed by Anchorage Fire Department. Plan review is an integral function of the Fire Prevention Division, as is the Code Enforcement section. Both produce revenue. The Plan Review section requires significant staffing and inspection resources. One-half of the Fire Prevention Division is assigned to Plan Review. Final inspections are required for every building permit except roof replacements.

The MOA adopted the 2000 International Codes, which provide options for sprinkler system versus standard fire-resistive construction; since then, the number of fire protection submittals have increased by 25%.

An increase from 20% to 25% for review fees offsets actual review time and inspection demands. Actual inspection time required for the plan review function is 25% of the overall review process.

Section 15. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Section 24.30.100. Amended fees for use of public places are calculated by using the volume of permits and inspections activity required to fulfill a code-required mandate against the costs of personnel, equipment, office space, vehicles, and other factors required to recover the cost to provide the code requirement.

[Submitted by Ron Thompson, Development Services.]

Section 16. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code Section 25.60.065. The recommended change in fees for the Columbarium Wall niches are structured to more fully recover the actual cost of providing the service. Review of the fees assessed in other cities provides empirical evidence which further supports the proposed increase of rates for the Columbarium Wall niches.

1 Section 17. This section of the ordinance deletes Anchorage Municipal Code of Regulations 09.30.001,
2 which are incorporated into Anchorage Municipal Code Section 9.30.280 in Section 5, above.

4 [Submitted by Barry Marcov, Anchorage Police Department.]

6 Section 18. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code of
7 Regulations 15.05.001F. to delete the portion of the fee table related to the development services
8 department, which are incorporated into Anchorage Municipal Code Section 23.10 Table 3-M, in Section 14, 9 above. The remaining services are provided by the health & human services department, and are amended to 10 more fully recover the cost of providing those services.
11

12 Currently the process to open a new cosmetological facility including beauty, barber, nail, aesthetics and 13 other cosmetological establishments within the Municipality of Anchorage includes: Completion and 14 submission of a permit application by the operator; payment of a permit fee; and arrangements for a pre-
15 opening inspection by a code enforcement officer. The permit fee is one-time only, prior to opening the 16 facility. The permit fee amount has not been changed for nearly 20 years.
17

18 Costs to provide permit application review and site inspections have risen substantially over the past several
19 years. Code enforcement officers also investigate complaints about cosmetology shops, including site visits.
20 The proposed increase to the permit fee more realistically reflects resources utilized.
21

22 Each year the Environmental Services Division of the Department of Health and Human Services issues
23 about 150 noise permits and investigates over 100 noise complaints. Event duration ranges from less than a
24 day to several months. As part of the permitting process, a code enforcement officer may conduct one or 25 more site visits to measure sound levels. Code enforcement officers also respond to noise complaints during 26 the day. Complaints are more common during multiple day events than single day events. Single day events
27 usually require fewer municipal resources than multiple day events. Currently, the permit fee is the same for 28 all noise permits issued. The proposed fee schedule better addresses resources necessary to provide these 29 services.
30

31 The current fee to review plans for a new or remodeled public pool or spa facility is $160, regardless of size.
32 By comparison, Anchorage Food Code Chapter 16.60 bases plan review fees on square footage of the food
33 establishment and those fees range from $200 to $500. Plan reviews for pools and spas are generally much
34 more technical and time consuming than food establishment plan reviews. The proposed fee schedule for 35 pool and spa plan reviews better reflects resources necessary to conduct public pool and spa plan reviews.
36

37 Permit fees in other jurisdictions and costs to provide services were reviewed and considered to determine
38 reasonable permit fee increases for Anchorage.

42 Section 19. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code of
43 Regulations 21.20.001. Increases for land use permits, fill/grading/excavation, and inspection fees are
44 calculated by using the volume of permits and inspections activity required to fulfill a code-required mandate
45 against the costs of personnel, equipment, office space, vehicles, and other factors required code
46 requirement.
47

48 [Submitted by Ron Thompson, Development Services.]
49

1 Section 20. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code of
2 Regulations 21.20.002. Building permit fees were supposed to recover municipal costs for construction
3 permitting and inspection services. However, zoning and platting fees have never been set at levels that
4 recover municipal costs. In recent years, taxpayers have been paying more than 80 percent of the cost for 5 zoning and platting services, with actual fees covering less than 20 percent.

7 This section adjusts zoning fees to remove the taxpayer subsidy. The section also establishes a fee
8 adjustment schedule, beginning on March 15, 2005, and annually thereafter by the change in the Anchorage
9 Consumer Price Index so fees continue to cover costs without tax subsidization.

11 All zoning fees are increased, but the structure of the zoning fee schedule remains the same with two 12 changes. The first change concerns variance fees. Currently, there is only one $525 fee for a zoning
13 variance application. This amendment eliminates the zoning variance fee, replacing it with a two-tier fee.
14 Under the two-tier fee, a single-family homeowner pays $1,160 for a variance, while owners of all other
15 property types pay $3,360 for a variance. Other Northwest cities, such as Tacoma, treat single-family home
16 variances differently from other types of variances, and the Planning Department recommends that 17 Anchorage adopt a similar two-tier approach to zoning variances.

19 The second change is a new $115/hour for public facility site selection services. Often, Planning staff
20 provide site selection assistance. Reimbursement for these services has not always been consistent. This
21 new fee establishes a formal hourly rate so the fee for public facility site selection services is clear.

25 Section 21. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code of
26 Regulations 21.20.003. Platting fees, like zoning fees, are adjusted to remove the taxpayer subsidy.
27 Platting fees would be adjusted, beginning on March 15, 2005, and annually thereafter by the change in the 28 Anchorage Consumer Price Index so the fees continue to cover costs without tax subsidization.

29
30 All platting fees are increased, but again the fee structure remains mostly the same. The most significant
31 platting change is the fee per subdivision lot: The current $6.20 per lot fee becomes $140 per lot under the 32 proposed fee schedule. The increase in the, "fee per lot," is greater than other fee increases to recognize the 33 fact that larger subdivisions generally involve more controversy and staff time.

34
35 New fees in the platting section include a $500 fee for re-filing a previously recorded final plat, a $1,200 fee
36 for modification or removal of a plat note, and a $3,360 fee for any other matter requiring a public hearing
37 before the Platting Board.

41 Section 22. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code of
42 Regulations 21.20.004. The fee for filing an appeal with the Zoning Board of Adjustment is increased 43 similar to adjustment of other zoning and platting fees to remove the taxpayers' subsidy.

46

47 Section 23. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code of
48 Regulations 21.20.005. Currently, fees for Hillside wastewater plan amendments are the same as fees
49 charged for rezoning or conditional use applications. This section adjusts Hillside wastewater plan amendment fees in a manner identical to adjustments for rezoning and conditional use fees in Section 20.

[Submitted by Ron Thompson, Director, Development Services.]

Section 24. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code of Regulations 21.20.006. Currently, fees for wetlands plan amendments are the same as fees charged for rezoning or conditional use applications. This section adjusts wetlands plan amendment fees in a manner identical to adjustments for rezoning and conditional use fees in Section 20.

[Submitted by Ron Thompson, Director, Development Services.]

Section 25. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code of Regulations 21.20.007. Miscellaneous fees are adjusted to better recover actual costs related to implementation of the land use code under Title 21. In this section, increases affect fees charged by the Traffic Department for traffic site plan reviews, by the Development Services Department for site landscaping reviews and sign permits, and by the Planning Department for a variety of administrative permits such as antenna towers, premises where minors are not allowed, snow disposal sites, unlicensed nightclubs, and bed and breakfasts. Other Planning Department fees amended by this section include the fee for rescheduling a public hearing at the request of a petitioner, fees for wetlands permits, the fee for certifying a property parcel's zoning status, and fees for street addressing or name changes.

[Submitted by Ron Thompson, Development Services.]

Section 26. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code of Regulations 21.60.001 by increasing flood hazard review fees, permit fees, and inspection fees for flood hazard reviews required as part of a building or land use permit. The reviews are essential to the successful administration of the National Flood Insurance Program effecting availability and cost of community flood insurance as well as availability of federal project funds. Fees were calculated by using the volume of building and land use permits against the costs of personnel, equipment, office space, vehicles, and other factors.

[Submitted by Howard Holtan, Municipal Engineer.]

Section 27. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code of Regulations 21.67.060. Plan review and inspection fees are calculated by using the volume of permits and inspections activity required to fulfill a code-required mandate against the costs of personnel, equipment, office space, vehicles, and other factors required by code.

Section 28. This section of the ordinance amends Anchorage Municipal Code of Regulations 25.10.011 to provide for an annual review of fees charged for parks and recreation services. Further, it clarifies the method to be used by the department director to make modifications and gather public input as part of the annual budget review process. Appendix A, a copy of the Parks and Recreation Fees, Current and Proposed (for 2004) is provided for information.

Section 29. This section of the ordinance sets out, for informational purposes, the administrative fee increases to be implemented by the Anchorage Museum of Fine Art; these fees are set administratively, and do not require a change to the Anchorage Municipal Code.

In order to reduce or eliminate taxpayer subsidy of municipal programs, the Anchorage Museum proposes to administratively increase monthly parking fees and the fee for administering the 1% for Art program. The monthly parking fee for garage and alley spaces is, at present, significantly lower than that of nearby parking lots, and has not been raised in thirteen years.

The cost of the 1% for Art program has not been adequately funded through billing. The new hourly rate more closely reflects actual costs of the program.
