

BRITTENY HOWELL

Organization Representative

Britteny M. Howell, Research Analyst III
Alaska Governor's Council on Disabilities and Special Education

Britteny Howell is an anthropologist and gerontologist from Dearborn, Michigan, with degrees from Central Michigan University, University of Cincinnati, and a soon-to-be PhD from the University of Kentucky. She is also adjunct faculty at Northern Kentucky University and Kentucky Community and Technical Colleges, where she teaches classes on diversity, culture, and medical anthropology via distance delivery. Ms. Howell's doctoral dissertation research brought her up to Alaska to work with Anchorage's seniors and she has never looked back. She has volunteered with the Food Bank of Alaska, Anchorage Senior Activity Center, Mabel T. Caverly Senior Center & Services, the Pioneer Home of Anchorage, and at several Anchorage senior living communities. Ms. Howell's current work at the Governor's Council allows her greater understanding of the complexities of living in Anchorage with disabilities, especially her research focus on housing barriers and accessibility in Alaska.
