Public Comments

Hi, I recently took a bus from C street station. While the ride was eventually good, one bus got stuck in the turnout slush for what seemed like several minutes. This struggling bus caused the backup of several buses and cars into the roadway, which defeated the turnout's purpose. Is there a way to better coordinate snow clearing to address this issue with the new turnout?

Kyle Fitzpatrick

Assuming fare-free rides are implemented, what would happen to folks who have purchased annual passes? If rides become free, then it could be argued that the money they have already spent has been wasted.
